

Open Express @ Budrich

Lately, we've perceived an increasing interest from our authors to provide their own scholarly articles for Open Access. As library budgets are diminishing and often constrained to (very expensive) natural sciences journals, Open Access is a considerable option for you as an author as well as for us as a publisher in the social and educational sciences.

The benefits of Open Access for you as an author are obvious:

- legal distribution via Researchgate and similar platforms •
- immediate accessibility worldwide •
- permanent availability even when your article is out of print •
- free access for readers •

We hence have developed a new Open Express offer for our authors: If you wish, we can provide your contribution for immediate Open Access upon publication of the printed issue.

The one-time author's fee for Open Express is 199.00 EUR.

All Barbara Budrich Publishers and Budrich UniPress Ltd. Open Access publications are authorized by a Creative Commons CC BY-NC-ND license. This license includes dissemination, electronic storing, and reproduction, if: (a) information on the copyright holders and the copyrights are given appropriately, (b) the work won't be used commercially, and (c) the work won't be edited, modified or changed in any other way.

See also: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>

Information: The upload of your article at Researchgate and similar platforms within the first year after publication requires Open Express.

Please contact us if you have published in one of our scholarly journals and are interested in our Open Express option.